VANDERBILT'S EX-WIFE PLEDGES FORTUNE IN SLAYER HUNT

DEMANDS ACCUSES CAPTURE OF ALLEN IN ASSASSIN HOUSE

Tells Father of Slain Gardener
Entire Wealth Used if Necessary

Newport, R. I., Jan. 22.—Mrs. Elsie French (Vanderbilt) Fitz-Simons pledged "the entire Vanderbilt" millions today to bringing to justice the assassin of her head gardener, J. A. Fraser McLeish, and his young wife, an expectant mother.

To James McLeish, father of the murdered man, Mrs. Fitz-Simons said emphatically: "No one will be left untaken to save this mystery and bring the murderer to justice, not even if it costs the whole Vanderbilt fortune."

Other developments today in the investigation of the mysterious double tragedy were:

1.—Theory of jealousy, based on fact that McLeish had just been promoted to be superintendent of Harborside, the Fitz-Simons estate, to succeed Harry Peel, who goes to Oakland Farm as superintendent.

2.—Search for a Fort Adams soldier who was seen near the McLeish lodge near the estimated time of the murders and for the civilian who gave first information of the fire in the lodge.

3.—Second and more detailed autopsy today by Medical Examiner William A. Sherman.

4.—Photographing of several finger prints found in the death chamber.

The first autopsy, a preliminary one, was performed yesterday. But Dr. Sherman arranged for a second one at a local undertaking room today in order to make complete examination of the bodies.

In the chamber in which Mrs. McLeish's body was found and where the body had been set, as the police believe, to cover the murders, the police found several finger prints.

Some were on partly smoked pieces of furniture. Others were on pieces comparatively clean and untouched by smoke, like some areas of the wall paper.

Where paper or an object of furniture bearing finger prints could be removed easily they were taken.

Rep. Kelley Charges Ex-Attorney-General Broke Oath In Jury Revelations

A move to prosecute J. Weston Allen on criminal charges was started today by Representative Coleman E. Kelley, who presented an order to the Legislature reading:

"That the Supreme Court of Massachusetts be requested to furnish the Attorney-General with an opinion as to whether the retiring Attorney-General violated his oath of office by divulging certain facts presented by him to the recent special grand jury in Suffolk County."

Concerning his order, Kelley, who is a Democrat and former Judge, said: "In my opinion there was a violation of the law by the Attorney-General."

"When that foreman tried to make a statement Judge Bishop warned him not to say anything because of his oath. Therefore, the same applies to the Attorney-General. No one, no matter how high, should be allowed to violate these laws."

The violation Mr. Kelley refers to specifically was the induction of extracts from the confession of William J. Croghan, former district attorney of Milwaukee, which had been read to the grand jury to which Allen referred in his farewell message to the Legislature urging amendment of the existing jury law.

Word of the order quickly spread around Boston. It created a sensation almost equal to that caused by Continued on Page 4, Column 3.

"NOT GUILTY" PLEA MADE BY CROWELL

Washington, Jan. 22.—Honorable Crowell, wartime assistant secretary of war, pleaded "not guilty" in District of Columbia Supreme Court today to the indictment recently returned against him and six others here, charging conspiracy in connection with the construction of army camps.

CONFESSION OF MURPHY IGNORED

State to Try and Convict Him of Two Murders by Other Testimony

At the trial of Jesse Murphy on the charge of murdering two managers of two Atlantic & Pacific tea stores, which began today before Judge Lawton in Superior Court, the prosecution will not depend on Murphy's confession which he has repudiated, but will attempt to prove that he was an accessory in the holdups.

This plan on the part of the State was revealed in a statement by Assistant District Attorney Henry P. Fielding just before the opening of the trial. He said the status of the case of the Hollois brothers had no bearing on the government's accusation against Murphy.

Mr. Fielding said evidence would be introduced to show that in one of the holdups two men participated and that in a second there were three men.

It will be claimed that Murphy was one of the gang. Murphy's mother, Mrs. Ellen Barker of Continued on Page 5, Column 4.

THOUSANDS STRIKE IN GERMANY

French Adopt Policy of Moderation in the Occupied Ruhr Territory

Mayence, Jan. 22 (By International News Service).—The Director-General of German Customs was arrested today by the French military authorities.

By International News Service. — Essen, Jan. 22.—More than 10,000 miners in the Ruhr coal fields, in addition to thousands of German railway workers, quit work today in protest against French occupation.

The French attempted to placate the population by relaxing military control.

German officials declared: "Our defense is functioning."

The Germans claimed two "bloodless victories."

First—Release of Director Ahrens of one of the Prussian state-owned mines on 12 bail.

Second—Withdrawal of the French troops from the occupied branches of the Reichsbank in Rhineland cities.

The French have promised not to interfere with the Reichsbank branches in future.

General de Goutte refused to release Fritz Thyssen and the other red magazine arrested Saturday, although he has been suffering from a weak.

EDITH M'CORMICK'S FIANCE ARRESTED

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Edward Krenn, Swiss architect, said to be the fiance of Edith McCormick, was today arrested charged with a traffic law violation. He refused to answer when asked if he was married or single. Officers had to beat on the door of his suite with a club before he would admit them. Before the officers took Krenn from his wife, Mrs. McCormick visited him there, but what occurred is a mystery. The alleged violation occurred December 29, when Krenn parked his car in a forbidden spot.

GARDENER AND WIFE BATTERED TO DEATH IN NEWPORT ESTATE

JEALOUSY MAY HAVE BEEN MOTIVE FOR CRIME

to police headquarters. Prints on articles too fragile. From charring to be moved were photographed as they were by John Murray, fingerprint expert of Newport police department.

On account of flames having been in the chamber fighting the incendiary fire the police will not be able to determine, except by a process of elimination, whether the finger prints were made by firemen in course of duty or whether by an unlawful intruder, such as the assassin.

McLesh and his wife were battered to death by an assassin who then set fire to the gardener's lodge on the FitzSimons estate which the victims occupied. McLesh was gardener of Harborview, the extensive summer property of Lieutenant and Mrs. FitzSimons.

Lieutenant FitzSimons and Police Chief John S. Tohn went through the lodge today and inspected the grounds immediately surrounding this structure in hope of discovering the weapon with which Mr. and Mrs. McLesh were slain.

Jealousy of McLesh's coming promotion to be superintendent of the estate was hinted today as possible motive for the killings.

MOTIVE FOR PROMOTION.
The fact that McLesh was slated for promotion became news today, having been known so far to a limited circle.

The present superintendent is Harry Pest. He is to leave his Harborview post February 1 to become superintendent of Oakland Farm, one of the properties of young William H. Vanderbilt, son of Mrs. FitzSimons. He recently became a partner.

McLesh, head gardener, had been selected to succeed Pest as superintendent of Harborview. Following this was on Pest's recommendation McLesh had been told of his promotion, to take effect when Pest made his own transfer.

This was a signal advance for McLesh. Instead of being merely in charge of the floriculture and general gardening of the estate, he would be entrusted with the upkeep of the entire property, at a larger salary and a more pretentious lodge.

The superintendent's house is about 200 yards from the bungalow structure set aside for the gardener and now marked with the stains of the dual murder.

BETTER PROSPECTS.
With promotion bestowed on him, with more money and a better home and, above all, with prospect of the coming baby, the McLesh couple of happiness was filled to the brim only to be overturned and shattered by the red hand of assassination.

The post of superintendent of any of the big Newport estates is one greatly to be desired. When the news spread today that McLesh had been selected for the honor, question was immediately raised, and guarded speculation was made whether any element of jealousy of McLesh's ascent entered into the raffish murder mystery.

TWO SUSPECTS SIGHTED.
Search for two persons was made today on other theories. One person sought is a soldier from Fort Adams. He was seen today at the lodge about the time the double murder was committed.

The other person sought is a civilian. He is the man who is said to have given first report of the fire by notifying Harry Pancel, watchman on the neighboring estate of Arthur Curtis James.

Investigation of the lodge today showed that, so far as can be determined, only one mode of entrance to the lodge was unlocked. That was the window of the second floor, where in which the victims slept. But there are no ladder marks on the sill or other indications that this was the murderer's means of entrance.

The police today reconstructed the crime for the benefit of Mr. and Mrs. FitzSimons in effort to determine as far as possible the details of the double slaying.

McLesh was awakened as the slayer dealt his wife a single blow with an axe or hammer which killed her instantly. He jumped from bed and rushed at the murderer and was met by a blow from the weapon already red with his wife's life blood. The first blow shamed a ringing sound across McLesh's face, below the right ear. He staggered but returned to the battle.

OWNERS OF ESTATE WHERE 2 WERE SLAIN

MRS. PAUL FITZ SIMONS.

MR. PAUL FITZ SIMONS.

Again he was battered with the weapon. Blood streaming from several wounds, the man engaged his assailant in a hopeless fight. They fought, the slayer wielding his red death cudgel, and McLesh doing battle with his bare hands. From the bedroom to the bathroom, ten feet away, the unequal struggle was waged. Then the slayer brought his weapon against McLesh's forehead, crushing his skull.

The gardener sank to the floor. Believing both victims dead, the murderer set fire to a rug under the bed.

GIVEN EMPLOYERS.
This description of the crime was given the dead man's employers by police.

For some clue to a murder which seems motiveless and completely baffling.

Chief of Police Tohn of Newport declares that he is absolutely at a loss to explain a possible motive. As far as is known the slain couple were without enemies. They lived quietly on the outskirts of the magnificent Vanderbilt showplace in this summer playground of society. They had been married three years and were in anxious expectancy of their first born.

They enjoyed the respect, and confidence of the town where they each had lived for many years. The small sum of money in the house, the fittings and furniture were not disturbed. Robbery has been eliminated easily as a motive of the crime.

PLAN U. S. PACT WITH TURKS
Lausanne, Jan. 22 (By the Associated Press)—It seems likely negotiations for a general treaty between the United States and Turkey will begin here after the Near East Peace Conference.

The American chief spokesman, Richard Washburn Child, his fellow delegates and the American commercial experts have become so familiar with the questions which must be dealt with that much can be gained by inaugurating the negotiations with the Turks here. As the United States did not declare war on Turkey, she will not sign the Near East Treaty now in the making between the Allies and the Turks.

NEW COLD WAVE COMING TONIGHT

Colder tonight and Tuesday. That is the latest word from the Weather Bureau. A marked drop in temperature is due to hit Boston and vicinity before midnight and Forecast Smith promises 15 degree cooler.

The chills will last for a couple of days. Fresh north to northwest winds are predicted for Tuesday. Today's snow was the tail end of a storm that had been moving eastward for the last few days.

The coldest spot on the continent today is at White River, Ont., with 24 below while New York, with 7 is the warmest.

Greenville, Mo., with 24 above was New England's coldest spot. Nantucket was "high" with 38.

HOSPITAL URGED FOR PART-PAYERS

Plans for erection of a new hospital of 200 beds for the exclusive use of part-pay patients were announced today by the trustees of the Massachusetts General Hospital to the Legislative Committee on Metropolitan Affairs.

Dr. Frederick A. Washburn and other trustees urged a plan to permit erection of a building 125 feet in height. The present legal limit is 80 feet.

Plans are completed," said Dr. Washburn, "and the only place we can build is in the air."

"Persons in moderate circumstances are most in need of care," he added, "and both the rich and the poor can get proper attention."

"The rich pay for their hospital care; the poor do not object to being classified as charity patients."

"There are many people who cannot afford to pay the full rate, but who desire to be recorded as charity patients. They feel they are able to pay something for the treatment."

LUKE KELLEY, "MAID" OFF CITY PAYROLL

"Luke Kelley has resigned as maid, salary $20 per month."

This information is printed in the City Record, City Hall's official organ, among Boston Sanatorium news items.

Dr. Arthur J. White, superintendent of Matapan Institution, said the designation was correct.

Dr. White's attention was called to the fact that dictionaries give the definition of "maid" as a "female servant" or assistant, but he insisted that the payroll called for a maid and maid it must, whether his name be "Luke" or "Marie."

CHARGE COMBINE IN FUSED BIFOCAL GLASS

New York, Jan. 22 (By the Associated Press)—An illegal trust of manufacturers of fused bifocal eyeglass lenses today was alleged by the United States attorney's office in a complaint filed against the Kryptek Company of New York and Boston, Bosch & Lomb Company of Rochester, N. Y., General Optical Company of Southbridge, Mass.

The complaint charged combination and conspiracy to maintain prices to jobbers and distributors and to discriminate against distributors not on the companies' preferred lists. The combination, the complaint charged, has been in existence since 1919.

A report today that Charles Ponzi was dying at Massachusetts General Hospital was deemed by his wife, who has been a daily visitor since he was transferred from Plymouth Jail a week ago.

He is suffering from ulcers of the stomach, but his condition was said by Mrs. Ponzi not to be alarming. It was explained that the operation which he still undergoes tomorrow will be a minor one and that no apprehension is felt. He underwent a similar surgical ordeal some months ago.

FLED WHEN TOLD HE WAS TOO OLD TO SHOVEL SNOW

James E. Huntress of No. 75 Summer street, Newton Center, director of a Boston directory publishing house, is seventy-eight years old, but let anyone tell him he is too old to shovel snow!

An automobile skidded into the yard of the Huntress home and Huntress hunted a shovel and helped to dig the car out of a snow-drift.

His son, also a director in the publishing house, saw him.

"Come in at once, father," he said, "you're much too old to shovel snow and, besides, you haven't your rubbers."

Huntress, senior, came in, but his young blood boiled. He stepped out, and didn't come home.

Today his son and wife received a letter from him, asking them to send his clothes to "General Delivery, Boston."

Boston police are today giving a hand to the Newton police in searching for him. He is described as tall, stout, shouldered, with full beard, red face, wearing a faded black hat, grey felt hat, striped suit, and patent leather shoes with rubbers.

Hearty endorsement of the campaign being waged by the Hearst newspapers against the drug evil was expressed by these clergymen, by Rev. David M. Lockrow, director of the Boston's class at Tremont Temple, and by Rev. Henry I. Bailey, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

Rev. Henry Irwin Bailey issued a statement to the Boston American in which he wrote:

URGES PUBLIC TO ACT.
"The story of Watly Reid's heroic fight against the cursed drug habit has stirred the hearts of men and women all over the country. When we realize that there are thousands all over our land who are falling into the evil grip of this evil it ought to arouse us to a determined effort to see to it that the traffic in drugs is blotted out as speedily as possible."

"We have laws to prevent it. We must demand that these laws be enforced and must do everything in our power to uphold those who do enforce them. We have no right to criticize our officers for not enforcing the laws if we are too cowardly to report infractions of the law when we see them."

"Let us all purpose to do our part to see that the traffic in drugs is blotted out. If we work together it is absolutely certain we can win."

PREPARE BOYS AT MILTON FOR OXFORD

Milton Academy is preparing to fit boys for Oxford University and will encourage American boys to finish at the great English university instead of at Harvard in the future, according to C. H. Goldthwaite, an instructor at the academy. Mr. Goldthwaite returned to America today on the Canadian liner Ansonia from Liverpool.

He spent three months at Oxford, studying conditions there with a view to preparing boys on entrance to the university. He said Oxford is less crowded than Harvard or other great American universities, and that the student life there is nearer to scholarly ideals.

Miss Ada Fraser of Ansonia, Scotland, came on the liner to marry Roy Granbough of Newton, a mate in the United States merchant marine. Granbough showed up at the ship with the necessary marriage license and a justice of the peace.

The ceremony could not be performed any too quickly to suit him. The bride, radiant and contented, but Miss Joan Fraser of Lynn, her sister, stepped in.

It was my sister to be married in a Christian fashion, among her own people," said Miss Fraser.

Miss Joan Fraser, who is married to a man named James, said she was in the country two years. The child, who is now two years old, recognizes her parents and a big doll convinced her they were the right ones.

Clouds the beauty of the teeth
Watch the change when you combat it

Film on teeth costs countless men and women one of their chief attractions. They never permit it when once they know how easily they can do it.

This is to tell you the way to offer you a test. And to urge that, for your sake and your family's sake, you find out what this new way means.

The results will be a revelation.

Film is offensive
You feel on your teeth a vicious film. It clings to teeth, eters crevices and stays. Food stains, etc. and it then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film.

Most teeth cleaned in old ways are more or less clouded by film.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in film. With tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Most tooth troubles are due to film. Under old methods, they were countless.

JACK TAYLOR AND BATTLING MCCREARY ON TRIPLE A BILL

WHIRLWINDS' STARS ARE READY FOR CONFLICT

Twelve Millionaires as Directors in New Golf Club

Colonel Gaston Gives Another Trophy for 600-Yard Run

ARENA STAGES THREE NIGHTS OF HOCKEY

It will be Jack Taylor, colored heavyweight star from the Middle West, against Battling McCreary at the Armory A. show at the Grand Opera House tomorrow night.

All of which proves the troubles of match-makers.

Also Friedman was originally billed against Paddy Owens at the Triple A show. Then he asked more time in which to train.

Danny Edwards was substituted. And after thinking the matter over for a couple of days Owens decided he didn't want to meet a colored boxer.

Paddy Mullins, manager of Edwards, then refused to let his protégé battle Freddy Drayton.

So Alex McLean, toward the heavyweights overboard and billed Taylor and McCreary.

Taylor is managed by Tom O'Rourke, who doesn't associate with deal wood. He has engaged in sixty bouts and has never been defeated.

He has walked out of the Armory and other fight-sloppers. The Arena A. C. recently planned to stage a bout between Norfolk and Taylor, but was obliged to postpone the affair when Lee Anderson happened into the picture with a prior contract for a Norfolk bout.

McCreary is tough and tough and has had experience. He will give Taylor a real test.

As this is the only professional show this week, a large crowd is expected to turn out for festivities.

If you want to meet a golden talent, tell Alex McLean what a soft job it is to be a matchmaker.

Frankie Ryan, Everett, and Tibbie Lavery, Malden, will hold the stage in the semi-final of ten frames. These boys recently furnished a sensational battle at the Armory Club, Ryan winning the decision.

Young Gerry of Boston and Nick Madonia of Lexington will box eight frames as will Frank Buff of Charlestown and Young Campbell of the North End.

The Arena A. C. show looked for a fight, with Eddie Shivers and Dave Shade in the feature number, will be staged at Mechanics Building on Saturday evening, February 3.

The B. A. A. track games will be held the same evening at the Boston Arena.

Young Kloby to Battle Trambitas at Fenway

Young Kloby, former New England welterweight champion, has been signed by the Fenway A. A. to battle Alex Trambitas in a ten-round bout at Mechanics Building, the latter part of February. Kloby will begin training in a few days.

Joe McCarthy says Trambitas will topple Kloby over and win a little revenge for the two knockouts suffered by Johnny Donovan, formerly under Joe's management, at the hands of Kloby.

The mysterious visit to Wash. D. C. by Mike Mallory of Boston and Lynn have finally been explained. It appears that Mike, who is owner of a new black horse, otherwise known as Bud Haggerty. The latter figures he can beat Mike Robinson and Kid Norfolk. After coming out with that in the mouth of one-arm joints, Mike has announced he will let the old B. R. ride on new prettier.

Mike will probably soon be sporting a diamond horseshoe in his tie like other prominent fight leaders.

Although about 4,000 fans attended the Dundee-Martin bout at the Fenway A. A. show, the club lost money on the venture. This was due to the heavy guarantee to get the so-called junior lightweight champion.

The show drew $3,000 of which amount Dundee received $3,100. Martin was paid $1,800. Rent, preliminaries and the other overhead expense disposed of the rest of the receipts and quite a few hundred dollars in addition.

Our boxing promoters should forget their petty differences, enter into a working agreement and use the act on some of the demands of boxers like Dundee.

The fact that Dundee recently received a bid for a $1,000 prize at a show to be staged for an Italian charity has not added to the popularity of the Scotch pug.

Dundee told the Italian committee that his price for boxing was $1,500 regardless of for what purpose a show was being staged.

Such a stand is rather unusual for an Italian athlete. Johnny Wilson, George Calza and Renato Landini have always given liberally to every worthy charity.

LOU MITCHELL.

CELTS BATTLE WHIRLWINDS TOMORROW

The Celtics are coming. That's what all the shouting is about.

The world's championship basketball team is to battle the Boston Whirlwinds in a title game at Mechanics Building tomorrow night.

It is the biggest basketball game ever booked for Boston. Naturally it will be witnessed by a tremendous crowd.

The Celtics are the world's champions. They are considered unbeatable in some quarters. The players on this famous outfit receive salaries which compare favorably with those paid to major league ball players and star boxers.

Johnny Beckman and Nat Holman each receive $1,500 a month.

"Horse" Haggerty, Chris Leonard, Joe Whitney, Dutch Dubbert and the other players are also paid fabulous sums for their services.

The Celtics have topped the country. And they have conquered. Tomorrow night, however, the champions go against another outfit which has proved its mettle in scores of sensational contests.

We refer to our own Boston Whirlwinds. The Whirlwinds will present a team of stars, including Bill Barret, Cambridge; Snappy O'Connell, East Boston; Lou Mitchell, East Boston; Deacon Finn, Hyde Park; and Dave Semadeni, Boston.

These players possess class. And they confidently state that they will win the victory march of the Celtics.

Reservations may be secured at Horner Partridge Co., Wrentham, and at Room 8, No. 28 School street.

Bids $100,000 for Leonard and Walker

Newark, N. J., Jan. 22.—"Babe" Culan, matchmaker for Frank Black, the Newark boxing promoter, has sent letters to Billy Gibson, manager of House Leonard, world's light-weight champion, and Jack Bulger, manager of Mickey Walker, welterweight champion, and offered them a purse of $100,000 for a bout between both the title holders.

The fight would be staged at the Harrison Ball Memorial Hall.

Boxing thus has two feature bouts. Besides these two feature bouts there will be a number of other matches, which are of first class order, and plenty of action can be looked forward to.

New York, Jan. 22.—Twelve founding members of "The Crack" newly projected million-dollar golf club, which will build a course on the old Cranch estate in Nassau County, have been named directors of the organization.

The names of the directors are: Vincent Astor, Edward B. Harkness, Frank Longfellow Crowder, Marshall Field, Harvey D. Gibson, Richard Howe, Charles B. Macdonald, Clarence H. Mackay, John P. Morgan, Herbert L. Pratt, John D. Rockefeller.

Colonel Gaston Gives Another Trophy for 600-Yard Run

Manager C. F. Gorman of the American Legion agrees to hold Washington's birthday at the East Armory, has received a telegram from Colonel William A. Gaston, now in Florida, that he will donate for this meet a trophy to be competed for in the "Gaston 600" run.

The beautiful trophy presented by him three years ago became the permanent property last Winter of John Driscoll after three successive victories. He is expected to compete again and Gorman promises that he will line up some real competition.

There will be three nights of hockey at the Arena this week. The games will enable the fans to see every member of the Eastern group of the United States League except the Victorians and four from Greater Boston colleges.

The match card for Wednesday night between the B. A. A. and the Westminsters of New Haven leads the list, for either of these two brilliant hockey machines will battle for the national championship in March. To reach the qualifying round it is necessary for a team to win its sectional title. This makes Wednesday's game important.

One of the prettiest centre line battles of the year should develop between J. Gorman of the B. A. A. and Burch of New Haven.

It looks like one of the big games of the year. With the exception of Smith and Campbell the B. A. A. will send a Yankee outfit against Canadians.

Undoubtedly, the most effective means of doing this is through ADVERTISING.

In this day of progressiveness, Advertising ranks among the first and most essential items of every business—Literally, it is "The Voice of the Business."

Printed Advertisements bring a business in closer contact with the public whom it wishes to reach, and create a personal feeling between the reader and the advertiser.

The windows, at all times the reflection of the inner store, and an advertisement in themselves, express the atmosphere which prevails, and are oftentimes the sole incentive for one to go inside for closer inspection.

Then, the store itself, the last and most important factor, expresses through its merchandise and its representatives, its desire to serve and to make friends.

We trust that in our Advertising, our Show Windows and in our Store, you will always see and feel the personal interest which it is our desire to create in our friends at all times.

Radcliffe Skating Carnival Attracts Society Interest, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

SEVERAL of society's younger representatives are to show their skill on the ice at the Radcliffe skating carnival, which takes place at the Arena tomorrow evening.

Naturally, sprightly Mrs. Theresa Weld Blanchard and Nat Niles are to be among the most important drawing cards, just as they were at the Radcliffe carnival given last year. However, the youngsters are to have their share in entertaining the audience, which, I expect, will be quite as fashionable as that of a year ago.

The Misses Polly Beale, Molly Pittingham, Polly Brewster, Helen and Malcolm Seymour, Ruth Sears, Martha Bigelow, Thornton Colledge, Ellen Lovell, Jessie Bunker, and the Pittingham girls are among the "youngster" set who are to take part. There's a Dutch dance which is said to be very clever, in which the younger group are to be especially prominent.

Last year there was a good bit of keen rivalry in the hockey game between the Radcliffe and Junior League teams, and I suppose that tomorrow night the game will be just as heated. Miss Ruth Yerra is leading the Junior "Leaguers," while Richard M. Bradley, daughter of Richard M. Bradley of Beacon street, is captain of the Radcliffe side.

Tonight will find many of Boston's fashionable "four hundred" at the opening performance of the Chicago Opera Company, which comes for a fortnight's stay at the Boston Opera House.

Practically the entire Social Register has put in its bid for boxes or seats, which means that the usual sartorial display will grace the auditorium on Huntington avenue.

A few of those who have already subscribed for seats include Gordon Abbott, Mrs. Boydell Beal, Mrs. Harold J. Coolidge, E. S. Dyer, William Endicott, Reginald C. Foster, Mrs. John Phillips, John Lawrence, Mrs. John L. Saltonstall, Mrs. Harvard, the Frederic S. White and a host of others.

LOUISE PAGE, with her pretty reddish-gold hair, has sailed to the Mediterranean.

MISS POLLY BEALE

She has gone overseas to study art in Florence, Italy, where she expects to remain for some time.

Miss Page, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward matter Page, is one of the most attractive buds of the season, having made her debut at a large dance this Fall. Speaking of art—she wore a most becoming artist's costume at the Animated Advertising Advertisers the other night—specially suitable for one about to woo the Muse. Miss Page has a pronounced penchant for dull gowns, which, of course, are most effective with her hair, besides which she rather fancies long, interesting-looking earrings.

FILM TRAILER MARKS STRIDE FORWARD

There is a definite evolution going on in the methods used in the production of screen "trailers." Until recently it was sufficient that a picture be sprinkled full of "stunts" of a more or less daring kind without too much regard for the plot or the continuity.

Forward looking directors, however, have come to know that the public is fed up on that sort of thing. There is, however, ample room for the production of feature pictures built upon a plot full of strong human interest, and adhering strictly to logical continuity through a plausible unfolding narrative that will deliver to any audience the thrills that have been so long sought.

Such a picture Director David Smith of Vitaphone has produced in "The Ninety and Nine," which will be shown at Tremont Temple the coming week. Mr. Smith, with a powerful story to begin with, which makes a strong appeal to basic human emotions and an all-star cast, has made it in strict continuity, climax unfolding upon climax.

Sustained and constantly fed in interest leading logically to a crushing, all absorbing finale—that is Director Smith's theory.

It has not scoured the industry for stunts. It is a tremendous story, told in a simple but faithful way, regardless of expedients necessary to make it true. It is the living through a day of the most dramatic series of events that one ever experienced. And the effect produced by an experience is what is truly recognized as a thriller, the kind that leaves one limp and on edge, but thoroughly satisfied.

MRS. GEORGE WINTHROP POLSON and her daughter, Miss Ethelred Polson of Lenox, are staying for a while in Newport, at the Phipps Lodge.

Mrs. Polson went to the famous Rhode Island watering-place to attend the wedding of her daughter, Miss Margaret Wintthrop Polson, to Mr. E. W. Wythe, of Newport. The ceremony, which took place in the rectory of St. Paul's, was a most elegant affair. Mrs. Polson's daughter, Miss Ethelred Polson, is a charming young woman, with only members of the immediate family in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Polson have left on a month's honeymoon trip, planning to return in February to make their home in Newport.

Another daughter of Mrs. Polson is Mrs. Churchill Satterlee of Boston, who visited her recently at the Polson's estate in Lenox.

BOSTON AMERICAN'S TWO PAGES OF LAUGHTER

Talk of the Town

By Ralph Record

AFTER a woman gets her house thoroughly equipped with electric clocks, electric everything, she wants to go to a hotel to live for the winter.

"Help us to elevate the waiter by doing away with tips," says a sign in our restaurant.

This is a real pleasure. Usually the only way you can elevate the waiter is by going down in your pocket yourself.

But we'd much rather deflate one of the hotel doors than elevate a waiter.

However, elevating the waiter is a very good idea. Every day to every way let's elevate 'em higher and higher.

And some day instead of saying: "Waiter, come over here," we'll start saying, "Waiter, please come down here."

We have changed a lot from the good, old-fashioned days when every home had a spare room and there was spare rib at Thanksgiving time. Now the best we can have is a spare time.

It's getting so that if you wish to look distinguished you have to go without spare or a walking stick.

A magazine writer says that in New York every man wants to look like he has more money than he really has, while in the small towns every man tries to make folks think he has less than he has. And you notice how the small town man gets the New York idea when he comes to town.

And when he goes back home—well, he hasn't got to make folks think he has less than he has for awhile, anyway, because he has less than he had.

We'll soon stop building skyscrapers and build three-mile-lift scoopers.

And reading about a 1,000-barrel oil well makes us wonder if we ought to continue speaking in terms of barrels in this country.

And if the barrel lights on automobiles ought not to be abolished.

Time and tide waits for no man, probably because he isn't worth waiting for. But man waits for woman, whether she's worth it or not.

And time and tide averted before woman arrived and began to keep man waiting.

And it was a good thing for time and tide that they started before woman came, or they would never have started.

And there are fewer women who have been left waiting at the church than there are men who have been left waiting at wherever their wives said they would meet them.

The successful man this winter is the one who can make one jump of coal do what two jumps have done before.

And a full dinner pail is not so important a cry as a full weight ton.

"Watch Your Step." "Watch Your Hat and Overcoat." What time has a stranger got to see anything?

We suppose that when a stranger comes to town he won't know his way around because the streets aren't numbered.

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

Little May, while visiting her grandmother, who resided in the upstairs apartment, was sitting on the window seat and her grandmother told her to be careful and get down before she lost her balance. Little May got down and then turned to her grandmother and asked, "Granny, I want to see my balance." LEO VIGNEAU, 17, No. 100 Smith St., Lowell, Mass.

THE BEST JOKE I EVER HEARD

Two Irishmen were standing, looking in a jeweler's window. Pat said, "Mike, how would you like to have your pick here?" "On," said Mike, "I'd rather have the shoes." LEO VIGNEAU, 17, No. 100 Smith St., Lowell, Mass.

To Keep Her Awake

An English lady on a visit to Scotland attended public worship in a parish church at no great distance from Aberdeen. In the same pew with her were about a dozen persons—farmers, their wives and children.

Shortly before the beginning of the sermon a large snuffbox was passed round to each of the occupants of the pew. Upon the lady visitor declining to take a pinch, an old man, who was evidently a shepherd, whispered in her ear: "Take the snuff, mem-tak' the snuff. Ye dinna ken our monie-ter; ye'll need it afore he's done."

Phair and Warmer

By George E. Phair.

From the land of the Dakotas Comes a candid legislator. And he lifts his voice in protest: "You have paid me too much wampum."

For the services I have rendered? Saying which, he peels his bank roll.

And returns the precious clams.

And the other legislators.

Lift their hands in holy horror.

Crying out: "He must be cuckoo!"

THE KING IS DEAD!

Champion Fall Mail His Majesty is dead! You don't know who

Champion Fall Mail His Majesty was? Shame on you! He was a Pomeranian hound of great distinction; the last bar, you might say, among canine insects.

"Faded," so the A. P. says, "among toy-dog lovers of two countries. That, without a doubt, is the apex of fame. He will be stuffed and presented to the American Museum of Natural History so that future generations may gaze and wonder.

There is a reason for weeping when you pause and reflect on a Pomeranian's ancestry. He belongs to the wolf family. His forefathers were large, uncouth, red-corporated savages, without the slightest trace of refinement. They were progenitors of the wilddenness, as it were. And now, after generations of intensive breeding, we find him looping in the lap of luxury, welcomed into the bosom of the very best society. It is indeed a triumph of human ingenuity to develop a wolf into an insect. He demonstrates once again the POWWAT of
